1. At Tczew, on Ul. Rokossowskiego, there is a military area, 300 meters in length and 200 meters in depth. Barracks are located in this area. Soldiers are quartered in a large four story building, 100 meters by 25 meters. There is a storage building about the same length as the building above which is one story or six meters high. There is also a stable for horses.
2. The barracks are occupied by an infantry unit, believed to be the size of one battalion. The soldiers wear green uniforms and caps with a red hatband.
3. Source observed the soldiers exercising in the field and noticed that they trained with carbines, PPS, and light machine guns with a round cartridge holder. Source also noticed that one company was equipped with Soviet type mortars.
4. The exercise field, which is about 2,000 meters by 3,000 meters, is located on the western side of the barracks area. It is located between the village of Gorki, south of Tczew, and the village of Rokitki, west of Tczew. On the north side there is a road leading from Tczew to Skarszewa. The Tczew garrison conducts training exercises on this field. The area is fenced with barbed wire. A road connects it with the rear of the barracks. This road also leads to the ammunition depot.
5. The ammunition storage depot is located about 1,000 meters from the Tczew-Skarszewa road, hidden from the road by hills and brushwood. The depot was destroyed in the war and was rebuilt. Above the surface of the ground, there is a small one story building, 20 meters by 10 meters. It cannot be seen from the exercise field. Under the surface there is a very large ammunition depot. Two soldiers, relieved every other hour, stand guard in front of the building. The ammunition is brought by trucks from the Tczew railroad station.
